Ruffled Waters
in Lake Charles,
Louisiana

Down in Lake Charles, La., where five executives of the American Press have been indicted on charges of defaming parish officers because the newspaper said they condoned public gambling, the churches of the city came to the press' aid yesterday.

Forty-three preachers put a resolution through their ministerial alliance asserting they were just as guilty of "defamation" as the newspaper. Regarding the American Press' editorials and news stories about gambling, the ministerial alliance said:

"We do not agree for one moment that such statements can be construed with any justice as 'defamation of character.' Furthermore, we believe that the delayed indictment against Mr. Dixon (K. L. Dixon, managing editor of the American Press) on such a count is an attempt to intimidate and repress freedom of expression."

Which is true, of course. The newspaper and the ministers have been protesting about public gambling, a protest to which they are constitutionally entitled. Parish officers have countered, not by taking their case to the public in statements and elections—which is the American way—but by using the public-office police powers of indictment and arrest to suppress criticism.

To understand the gall of those parish officials you should know that the Lake Charles American Press is no jumped-up campaign sheet but one of the principal newspapers of Louisiana with an ABC circulation of 16,580—the town's only paper. Newsmen are no more infallible than other mortals, but any mistakes they have made in printing charges against public officials are dwarfed by the mistake the officials made when they tried to choke off the one critic in their community big enough to force a showdown.

Lake Charles has the reputation of being an "open town." And it is true that zealous reformers sometimes legislate a town into the graveyard. But this is for the people to debate in public campaigns and decide in free elections.

If conditions were so bad that the American Press put into its editorial columns the same fire the preachers unload from the pulpit when they get on the warpath, then the average American will conclude there's something wrong in Lake Charles.

But right or wrong, we're entitled to read both sides of the controversy. Those public officials had the right to demand publication of their reply to the newspaper's charges—but they did not have the right to attempt to suppress publication of either side. And they won't have—as long as this is America.

Anthony Mill Fire Loss Is Over $15,000

A garage at the Graydon Anthony Lumber Company, 2 miles south on Highway 29, caught fire and burned to the ground last night and first estimates placed the loss at $15,000 to $20,000.

Two trucks from the Hope Fire Department confined the blaze to the garage although the plant's store was seriously threatened.

The garage contained two trucks, tools, mechanical machines and a shipment of new tires, all a total loss. No insurance was carried, Mr. Anthony said today.

The blaze is believed to have been started by sparks from the mill's slab pit, which burns continuously. A high wind last night carried the sparks to the garage, it was theorized.

Last year the big plant was burned completely to the ground but rebuilt shortly after.

Court Order May Break Copper Strike

Washington, Sept. 5—(AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days.

President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He was in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Immediately after receiving a report from his Taft-Hartley act fact-finding board that the copper strike is "seriously harming our economy and the rearmament program," Mr. Truman directed Attorney General McGrath to seek an injunction against the strike.

Justice department officials did not disclose their plans, but there was every indication the courts in Washington or Denver, or both, would be asked today to order a resumption of work. Any disobedience of the order may be punished by fines, jail sentences, or both.

Officials of the independent mine, mill and smelter workers union which called the strike, have said they would urge their members to return to work if an injunction was issued.

Unique Plan of Extortion Is Uncovered

Houston, Tex., Sept. 5—(AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her when they estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime Prevention Detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annelia Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmonds rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the animal any more, she gave them each a $1.

Next day the boys again managed to throw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmond's house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in ten months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprisingly number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police started an investigation last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid.

The 11 boys were arrested over the weekend. Eight were released to their parents. The leader and two brothers, 9 and 13, were turned over to the probation department.

Mrs. Edmonds said she had been giving the boys money for nearly a year, but she didn't think it was as much as they claimed. She said she lives on a monthly allowance left to her by a brother.

Police said the boys used the money for picture shows, soda pop and other items of desire.

More News About Hempstead's Watermelons

Watermelons—especially the ones from Hope are always making the news.

The July issue of Woman's Day carries an article by Betty Cass, a former resident of Garland County, who fondly recalls those delicious, cold, ripe Hope melons of her childhood.

Although she is now a Northerner, where they buy 'em by the slice, she writes she will never forget those big melons from Hope which her family enjoyed, "and nothing less than a Hope melon satisfied our father."

And in its August 16 issue, The Enterprise-Courier of Charleston, Mo., carries a picture of James Coghill of that city cutting a 117-pound Hope melon. The melon was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Frel Cook of Hope.

Stormy Debate Seen Over Jap Treaty

Washington, Sept. 5—(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today he foresees long, stormy debate before the Senate will ratify a peace treaty with Japan.

Connally, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee told a reporter he believes there is "no question" that the Senate will approve the treaty ultimately.

A storm signal was raised by Senator Jenner (R-Ind.) who said he found a "threat to our security still hidden" in terms of the proposed peace treaty.

In a statement yesterday, Jenner said secrecy surrounds the treaty itself and companion pacts proposed on one hand between the United States and Japan, and on the other between Japan and nationalist China.

"How," he demanded, "can secrecy and double dealing help us?"

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Senate democratic leader, announced he plans to press for ratification of the peace treaty before Congress adjourns on or about Oct. 1, if it is completed "in reasonable time."

House action is not needed; the Senate alone ratifies treaties.

Iran Gives Britain a Deadline

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 5—(AP)—Iran's national oil premier threatened today to throw Britain's oil refinery technicians out of Iran unless the British resume Anglo-Iranian oil negotiations within 15 days.

The Iranian senate gave Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh a vote of confidence on this "get tough" policy, and he will ask a similar vote in the lower house tomorrow.

The ultimatum faced the British with the prospect of reopening talks on proposals they already consider unacceptable or having their technicians who have remained at the Abadan refinery tossed out of Iran.

They were listed by State Police Sergeant Milton Mosier at Dalton Thomas, 32, Birmingham, Ala., serving a 16-year sentence in prison for assault with intent to kill prior to his escape August 31, and A. D. Wells, publisher of a Little Rock government news digest.

Petitions containing 23,703 signatures have been filed. This is about 6,000 more than is necessary to submit the law to the public vote.

Parker said he did not know who would pay travel expenses of the investigators. He added that he assumed that since they are working on state time they will be on state expenses.

The act that is the center of the controversy was sponsored through the legislature by the administration of Governor McMath. It is designed to liberalize and simplify state purchasing procedure, they say.

Mr. Truman headed for his home in the midwest after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

The President departed at 6:30 CST today aboard the White House plane, the "Independence" for Jackson County, Mo., where he started on the road to the presidency.

His Kansas City visit is expected to last throughout the week.

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.), who was among those cheering the president on at the luncheon speech told a reporter, with obvious satisfaction:

"I thought he threw his hat into the ring."

And that was what just about everybody else among the upwards of 750 others at the luncheon thought, too.

The president's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bombshell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

"It is fantastic what can happen with the use of new weapons that are now under construction in this country, not only the one which we all fear the most, but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation."

The President didn't disclose what weapons he had in mind, but he left no doubt about the weapons.

Texarkana Cab Driver Eludes Kidnap-Robbers Here; Pair Later Captured at Glenwood

Hurricane By-Passes Jamaica

Miami, Fla., Sept. 5—(AP)—The tropical storm in the Caribbean sea, with much of the steam gone from its punches, traveled westward over open waters today after passing fearful Jamaica.

The two men telephoned the taxi cab station from a Texarkana cab about 7 p.m.

The cab, driven by Bob Gross, Jr. of Texarkana, picked them up and was told to take them to a nightclub on Highway 67.

As the storm turned to spare Jamaica, it lost a great deal of its force. Highest winds dropped to 60 miles an hour.

Gross said one man sat in the front seat and one in the rear seat and the one in back thrust a gun into the back of his neck and threatened to kill him unless he obeyed.

He said about 15 miles out of Texarkana they forced him to stop the cab and climb into the back seat and the man riding in front took over the steering wheel.

The cab driver said he did not see a gun because whatever the man had was concealed by a handkerchief. They took about $6 of him.

When the cab reached Hope the driver had to slow down because a fire truck was passing and Gross jumped from the cab and ran at the Third and Hazel street intersection.

He notified police and the search was on. Roadblocks were thrown up all over South Arkansas. About midnight the deputy sheriff at Murefreesboro and city marshall of Glenwood caught the pair as they tried to cross the bridge at Glenwood. They did not have a gun at that time.

Mr. Mosier said the pair probably would be returned to Miller court as the robbery actually occurred there.

Police said the boys used the money for picture shows, soda pop and other items of desire.

State Workers Used to Fight Purchase Law

Little Rock, Sept. 5—(AP)—The state administration is expanding its drive to block a voters' decision on the controversial new purchasing law.

State Purchasing Agent Carl Parker yesterday confirmed reports that 19 state employees had been drafted to help his office track down illegal signatures on petitions to refer the new law to the November general election.

The total includes 21 arrested for drunkenness, one for drunk driving and 10 for possession of liquor for purpose of sale, 21 auto accidents investigated and two cars were stolen.

Fines assessed during the month total $1,321 of which $1,000 were paid in cash the balance served in jail pending trial or appeal to a higher court.

The report was made to the council last night by Chief of Police Clarence Baker.

The hunt for enough phony signatures to block submission of the law—act 242 of the 1951 general assembly—began in Pulaski county.

Extension of the search was disclosed when Parker obtained notary commissions for the state employees.

Administration officials already are planning to ask the Arkansas Supreme Court to set aside the petitions on the ground of fraud. They base their charge on evidence they say has been uncovered in Pulaski county.

"From what we have found in Pulaski county, I believe we are justified in using state employees to check such violations," said Parker. "Petitions filed in the past have had violations and have not been checked."

"If a referendum is gotten up illegally and unlawfully to set aside a law of the legislature, it should not go unchallenged."

Parker said he did not know who would pay travel expenses of the investigators. He added that he assumed that since they are working on state time they will be on state expenses.

The act that is the center of the controversy was sponsored through the legislature by the administration of Governor McMath. It is designed to liberalize and simplify state purchasing procedure, they say.

A move to let the people decide whether the law should be effective was started soon after the legislature adjourned by John F. Wells, publisher of a Little Rock government news digest.

Armed Posse Seeks Florida Badman

Starke, Fla., Sept. 4.—(UPI)—A heavily-armed posse searched a remote, swamp-dotted area south of here today for Leo (Bad Eye) Zalutsky, notorious Florida killer who escaped from Tallahassee State prison.

Officers from four northeast Florida counties here called into the search along with prison guards and state highway patrolmen.

Sheriff P. D. Reddish of Bradford county said bread and bacon were stolen from a bread truck in the area and that Zalutsky, believed armed only with "black knife," may have taken the food.

Prison Capt. L. F. Chapman, who heads the posse of state and local officials on horseback and foot, said exits from the area had been patrolled throughout the night.

"We got every reason to believe he's still in there, and if he is, we'll get him."

A search plane, highway patrol officers and bloodhounds aided in the hunt for Zalutsky, who fled the prison yesterday with a fellow convict, John (Nick the Greek) Molton.

Molton, 25-year-old Tampa, Fla., robber, was spotted by the search plane and tracked down by bloodhounds in a swamp shortly after his break.

The pair held the wife of the prison dental captive briefly after they broke out of the prison by snipping a heavy wire fence few feet from a guard tower.

Chapman credited the dental's wife, Mrs. H. J. Kucera, with preventing Zalutsky and Molton from making good their escape from the state by blinding her ear, which the badmen had commanded.

The two desperadoes dashed for the Kucera home across an open field after cutting the fence. A state guard opened fire on them and hit Kucera in the head.

The couple, described as "political but innocent" by Mrs. Kucera, forced the 26-year-old mother to drive them to the edge of Starke, where they ran into a handily set trap.

Mrs. Kucera used that as an excuse to ditch the car," said Chapman, "and Zalutsky and Molton then fled into the woods."

Bloodhounds soon tracked down Molton, but Chapman and the dogs some of the 2000 men will be available. However, patrolmen and local officers joined no prison guard to throw a cordon around the groves and swamps south of town.

Floods Again Hit Parts of Kansas

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 5—(UPI)—Surging rivers overflowed anew in eastern Kansas today and threatened Kansas City industrial districts still recovering from last July's billion dollar flood disaster.

The rivers, fed by heavy rains, forced evacuation of farmers and some town areas.

In Kansas City, Kas., army engineers rushed bulldozers and other earth-moving equipment into the Argentine and Armwooddale districts. Both of these heavily industrialized sections are still digging out of the great flood of mid-summer.

Rising waters also were being watched with apprehension in the central industrial district of Kansas City, Mo.

in an effort to strengthen dikes along the Kansas river, the state's longest.

Federal officials have estimated damage in Missouri and Kansas from the July flood at $2,500,000,000. It has been called the nation's worst single disaster.

Some dikes, wrecked by the flood, are still out and others are dotted with soft spots.

At the state capital of Topeka, Mayor Kenneth Wilke ordered the evacuation of North Topeka, one of the hardest hit areas in July. Approximately 2,500 of the 10,000 persons that inhabited the district before the flood had returned to their homes.

An emergency shelter was set up in the Topeka municipal auditorium to house refugees.

Arrangements of late summer flowers were placed at vantage points in the rooms.

Mrs. Elizabeth Franecky, chairman of health and safety, was in charge of the program and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. T. E. Logan, who assisted by Mrs. Floyd Hubbard showed a film on Taberculosis which was very interesting.

A delectable salad plate was served to twenty members and guests, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Mark Justice and Mrs. O. W. Watkins.

Juror Invites Hill to Lake Charles Probe

By KEITH FULLER

Lake Charles, La., Sept. 5—(UPI)—A grand juror, one of those who indicted five Lake Charles newspapermen on defamation charges, invited U. S. Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) to "have your investigators present" when the cases are tried in open court.

In a statement Sunday Hill criticized the grand jury's action and said the indictments were "so flagrantly unjust they will alert the people to the need for a grass roots uprising against crime and corruption."

The senator said congress should appropriate money to open crime committee hearings, which officially ended Friday.

The newspapermen's indictments followed an anti-gambling crusade by the Lake Charles American Press. The indictment included the paper's publisher co-publisher, managing editor, city editor and a reporter.

Two More Die Violently

By The Associated Press
Two persons died violently in Kansas Tuesday, raising the toll for the first two days of this week to six.

A Helena hardware merchant and city official died in a fall from his third-floor hospital room at Helena. He was Bert E. Hickey, 66, chairman of the Helena municipal water works commission and owner of a hardware store.

Hickey had been admitted to the hospital Monday night. He dropped from the window of his private room about 3 p.m., and died 45 minutes later.

Hospital attendants said he had suffered from a heart condition for several years. Before moving to Helena about 35 years ago, Hickey lived in Batesville, Paragould and Marianna.

Gilbert Grant Jr., 27, of Memphis drowned in a water reservoir at West Memphis.

D. A. Totty, manager of the Planters Compress in West Memphis, said Gant was swimming in the reservoir, looking for a boat which had come loose from the water gauge.

Order Rushed to Hike Prices of Automobiles

Washington, Sept. 5—(UPI)—An order to permit all automobile manufacturers to raise prices on new cars by Oct. 1 was being rushed today for early issuance.

At the same time, price control officials said that because of changes made by congress in the defense production act the carmakers probably can be expected to ask further increases in the near future. Such price boosts would be passed on to buyers, although perhaps not all at once.

There was no indication whether the manufacturers would get the full nine to ten per cent average increase requested. One official expressed doubt the boost might run that much.

Memories of his "give 'em hell" campaign of 1948 were stirred by the President's assertion:

"The democratic party has a duty to the country, and if I am not badly mistaken the democratic party is going to keep right on carrying out that duty."

"Next year, 1952," the President said, "we're going to be ready to have another election. His audience arose cheering in campaign fashion as though the election were just around the corner. When the applause subsided, the President told, "You interrupted me," but he looked happy about it and his grin spread to unusual proportions.

"We're going to elect a President next year, and that means that we are going to have the opportunity to see that this country stays in the right path," Mr. Truman added later:

"I don't know who the democratic candidates will be next year, but I do know this: They will be fighters or peace they will understand what it takes to make America strong. They will fight for all the people—not just a few."

The President cut loose at the Republican opposition. He didn't call the gop by name, but he attributed to the democrats a long record of achievements and everybody knew there is only one other major party.

"These anti-defense, anti-control, anti-everything people (those who oppose the democratic policies) are the same ones who have been against everything we have been doing in this country for the last 20 years to improve the conditions for the farmer, for labor and for the average family," the President said.

"These people are the ones who are fighting against 'renegades and isolationists, these antis and fobs' as being 'as blind about what it takes to keep the country strong as they are about what it takes to keep peace in the world.'

Mr. Truman scoffed at those he said are crying the Democrats have taken "the country down the road to ruin."

"It's a wonderful ruin, and I'm glad to be a part of it," he added.

Mr. Truman said the purchasing power of the average man has gone up 40 per cent since 1939 "using the 1939 dollar or the dollar we have today."

"And they can't go behind it. For figures don't lie, although liars can sometimes figure."

He went on from there:

"We have economic fossils today who want the profits of 1951 with the wages and hours of McKinley's first term."

There was another political note in word from California Democrats that the President has decided to return Oct. 8 for a $100 a plate dinner of the Democratic national committee at Los Angeles — unless unforeseen problems arise in Washington.

There was a look of the campaigner about the President again last night as he stopped in the doorway of his hotel to exchange salutes with a little boy, Louis Jensen, 3, San Jose, who was wearing a cut-down army uniform complete with combat helmet. Photographers took pictures as they went about the task of making pictures.

Death Toll Blamed on 'Crazy Fools'

Chicago, Sept. 4 — (AP) — A small proportion of "crazy fools" among the nation's motorists were blamed by a safety official for the Labor day weekend's record high death toll.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said many of the nearly 500 traffic victims were "innocent bystanders who died because they had the misfortune to encounter the crazy fools who infest our highways these days."

In a statement, Dearborn said:

"Most of our traffic accidents are caused by relatively few people who refuse to act like decent human beings and behave like morons. xxx"

This disgraceful traffic toll over Labor day points dramatically and clearly to the fact that we must take more drastic steps to rid the highways of crazy fool drivers xxx."

Miss Clarice Brown Complimented With Tea

In the series of parties complimenting Miss Clarice Brown, bride-elect of Harold Hightower of Crosscut, was the informal tea given on Monday afternoon, September 3, from 4 to 6, by Mrs. Leonard Ellis, Mrs. Jewel V. Moore, Jr., and Mrs. Franklin Horton at the home of Mrs. Ellis.

The Ellis home was decorated with summer flowers at vantage points. The table was overlaid with a gold cloth and punch was served in a very unique way, from a watermelon nested in a spray of grape leaves with bunches of white grapes surrounding and trailing down the center of the table.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Donald Moore and Mrs. Henry Haynes and introduced to Miss Brown, Mrs. Jesse Brown, mother of the bride-elect, and Miss Jo Ann Hightower of Crosscut, sister of the groom-elect. They were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Jim McKenzie. Serving the punch were Mrs. A. D. Brannan and Mrs. S. A. Whitlow. Others extending courtesies in the dining room were Mrs. Harry Shiver, Mrs. J. S. Gibson, Jr., and Mrs. Olin Lewis.

Presiding over the "Brides Book" in which "Best Wishes" was written, was Mrs. M. S. Bates.

The honored guest was presented with a corsage and a gift of her chosen pattern of china.

Flowers for the hair were presented to Mrs. Brown, Miss Jo Ann Hightower, and members of the house party.

About forty guests called during the appointed hours.

Adamic's Death Listed as Suicide

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 5 — (AP) — Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide but invited the FBI to probe the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author who recently found Marshal Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin was found yesterday in his burning farmhouse in near Milford with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," Hunterdon County Prosecutor H. T. Heisel said but added, "I have personally notified the FBI at Newark in case there is any desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's part-time secretary revealed that four unidentified men threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

Mrs. Ethel Sharp, a Milford bank clerk who had been helping Adamic prepare his latest work, said the writer was visited by four strangers last fall. She quoted Adamic as saying without any explanation or apparent concern that the men told him "it had just better be a good book."

State police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstairs bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Adamic, a staunch defender of the foreign-born in America and a prolific writer on labor and minority struggles, supported Henry Wallace on the progressive ticket for president in 1948. He denied any connection with the Communist party and was writing a book to be called "The Eagle And The Roots" about Tito's break with the Russian Reds.

On Saturday the Shover Springs Home Demonstration Club enjoyed their August picnic at Fair Park the 30th at 7 o'clock. A large number was present, 14 homes being represented. After the picnic supper there was visiting, swimming, and a ball game.

All reported a real nice time and plenty of good food.

DOROTHY DIX

Courageous Girl

Dear Miss Dix: I come from a poor family, but I am married now with two children. I have always vowed to do my best to better my life and my family's. Now I have the chance, and wonder if I will succeed.

My father is going to a veteran's hospital for the third time, and my mother, who is unable to do any housework, will be left with very little income. So my mother, two sisters, one brother and my own small family are moving into a large house. With mother's things and mine we will have a home with all necessities in it. Our income will be sufficient, with my husband's salary and my father's pension.

I want to teach my sisters how to do things to make a nice home, to cook and care for their clothes. Only one can cook a little, and as things were a little haphazard at home, they don't know how to plan meals or anything like that. I'd also like to make my other sisters and brothers realize that when they visit their children, the youngsters should not be given the run of the house to do as they please.

Answer: You are a wise and courageous girl to undertake the terrific job ahead of you. I hope your family appreciates what you are trying to do and co-operates with you.

Keep Visitors In Line

When the visiting families arrive and see the changes you are making in the old home they should have sense enough to see that their marauding offspring are kept within bounds. If not, you will have to take a firm stand and tell both children and parents that toys must be put away, feet kept off furniture and food eaten only in the rooms assigned for that purpose. Your efforts at orderliness should impress both the sisters at home, and those married.

Three American divisions from the main United Nations assault force the U. S. Second and Seventh Infantry Divisions and the First Marine Division.

These three outfits were identified Tuesday as the power which has carried Allied troops five miles forward in a 17-day "battle of the hills" in east central Korea.

In a special announcement, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United Nations ground commander, said the "magnificent effort" of the three American divisions and about an equal number of South Koreans seriously decreases the Communist potential to wage an offensive operation in the near future within this sector."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo said the Reds were in position to launch a new offensive. It gave this picture of the Communist buildup:

Forty divisions — about 400,000 men — on the battle line.

At least 30 divisions, including "large numbers of caucasian Soviet puppet troops" in reserve.

A thousand combat planes across the border in Manchuria.

But Van Fleet said he doubted the Reds would attack, unless goaded by political reasons.

The most savage fighting since April raged over the eastern ridges Tuesday.

Allied troops were locked in a continual battle with 83,000 Chinese and North Koreans for control of ridges and mountains ranging up to 4,000 feet.

But Van Fleet said he doubted the Reds would attack, unless goaded by political reasons.

Answer: White a bald head may not be the most attractive thing in the world, it certainly is not the drawback you fear it is. You undoubtably have enough good qualities to counterbalance this one defect. However, I do seriously advocate using a toupee, or something along that line. As you say most people will add ten years to your age, and a young man or 24 doesn't feel.

ELIZABETH G.

Answer: To capture a man's heart on the rebound is not a difficult job, but it does require patience. If you really want him, accept his dates on a friendship basis; make no mention of your love for him or of the girl who jilted him. Don't be too eager for his attentions and above all, don't expect too much. It might not work out, but it's worth a try.
